MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Houston

SUBJECT : Presidential Libraries Program

1. Col. White's memorandum of 28 June to Deputy Directors and Heads of Independent Offices requested suggestions for guidelines by which the Agency will select documents to be furnished or suggested for the Nixon Library.

2. The basic standard would be that any document of Presidential significance should be included. Certainly any paper addressed to or received from the President, the Vice President, the White House, the National Security Council or the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board should be included. Any basic paper in an area in which the President has taken a personal interest, for example, the current action to revise the executive order which provides for the classifying and protection of defense information, should be included. Documents in which the President and the White House have played little or no part but which might be of major significance in the Nixon Administration would qualify. Important public CIA documents, such as the Director's recent speech, should be included.
